Apprenticeship Guide

Introduction

Getting paid while you learn might sound too good to get the best of both worlds. While you're studying for your qualifications, you'll be able to get hands-on experience.

Apprentices learn on the job, building up knowledge and skills, gaining qualifications and earning money all at the same time. All Apprenticeships lead to a National Vocational Qualification (NVQ), at Level 2 or Level 3, Key Skills qualifications and, in most cases, a technical certificate, such as a BTEC or City & Guilds.

Employers Value Apprentices. Once you've achieved your qualifications you'll have proof that you've acquired real marketable skills and knowledge. Whether you're trying for a promotion, or for a new job, completing an Apprenticeship will help you to progress.

There is a wide range of Apprenticeships available in your area - the one you choose will depend on your experience, occupation, abilities and interests.

This brochure provides information on most Apprenticeship schemes - contact your local Connexions centre to find out more.

FAQs

How do Apprenticeships work?

Apprentices learn on the job, working with your employer building up knowledge and skills which will allow you to achieve National Vocational Qualifications (NVQs) or other nationally recognised qualifications.

You also spend time with a training provider, perhaps a local college or work-based learning organisation where you study specialist vocational skills relevant to your job and key skills that'll be useful in the job market - like working in teams, problem solving, communication and IT.

How long does it take?
It varies - Apprenticeships last as long as general Apprenticeships last between one and three years.

Who's eligible?
Apprenticeships are open to anyone living in England, not taking part in full-time education and who do not have a university degree.

Entry requirements are flexible and are practical skills and interest in the area of full-time education and who do not have a university degree.

Do I need to have a job?

Not necessarily - you do not need to be in your employer to start a programme and Apprenticeships are open to anyone living in England, not taking part in full-time education and who do not have a university degree.
