

LSC APPOINTS ROCHDALE'S ABDUL HAMIED TO REGIONAL COUNCIL

Date of issue 6 October 2008

Publication number NWR - 378

The Learning and Skills Council (LSC) in the North West has recently appointed 14 members to form a new Regional Council, with Abdul Hamied, Regeneration and Renewal Manager at Rochdale MBC, securing his place on the panel.

Set up as part of the Further Education and Training Act 2007, the new Regional Council will lead the LSC's regional and local presence; informing decision making, guiding progress and ensuring the successful delivery of the LSC's agenda in the North West. The 13 council members will act as guiding voices, translating national and regional strategy into practice and effectively investing the LSC's budget over the next few years.

The Act was introduced to streamline the LSC's 'non-executive tier' following the replacement of 47 Local Councils with the nine Regional Councils in existence today. This move has resulted in a more simplified, less bureaucratic structure, as well as being aligned to the organisation of the LSC executive team. In this way, the new councils reflect both the local and regional needs of learners and employers.

Appointed members are required to have a combination of business, education, training and community experience in order to contribute to the balance of the board. As a result of a successful recruitment drive earlier this year, the LSC in the North West received a significant number of applications for key positions on the Regional Council, including many leading businessmen and women in the region.

Abdul's background more than equips him for the role. Currently providing strategic support and co-ordination for the Rochdale Local Strategic Partnership, the Local Area Agreement and the Community and Neighbourhood Renewal Strategies,

Abdul is fully committed to the equal opportunity and race equality agenda and is a firm believer in embracing the values, principles, needs and cultures of different community and social groups. He is also dedicated to the neighbourhood renewal agenda which strives to address inequalities within local communities, disadvantaged groups and geographical areas and is committed to raising standards for everyone.

Roger Hoyle, Chair of the North West Regional Council commented, "The appointed council members all demonstrate a strong commitment to learning and skills, and are from a diverse range of sectors and backgrounds. Consisting of representatives from educational establishments, trade unions and from the public and private sector, the new council offers a well balanced perspective of the learning and skills arena."

He concludes, "We are all excited and keen to start making a difference, using our combined skills to strengthen the work already underway – ultimately working to transform the ambitions and life chances of millions of people in the North West."

Learning and Skills Council

The LSC exists to make England better skilled and more competitive. We are responsible for ensuring the availability of high-quality education and training for everyone. We have a single goal: to improve the skills of England's young people and adults to world class standards. Our vision is that young people and adults in England have knowledge and skills matching the best in the world and are part of a truly competitive workforce. We work nationally, regionally and locally to deliver this ambition on behalf of learners and employers.
