

Leading learning and skills

Integrated Employment and Skills and the adult advancement and careers service

14 October 2008

Letitia Mason
Skills Development Manager

Adult advancement and careers service from 2010

02

The vision for the 2010 adult advancement and careers service

The service will drive progression in learning, work and careers by:

- supporting the delivery of Skills Accounts
- supporting those in work and who are looking to progress in their careers
- supporting those out of work looking to move into sustainable jobs
- targeting intensive support on those who need it most.

The aacs offer

- nationally consistent
- customer centred tailored to need
- no wrong door, joined up with wider services
- flexible delivery:- web, telephone, face to face
- a free 'skills health check

Joined up Advice

- Access through a 'no wrong door' approach
- Housing, employment rights, childcare and health as well as skills and jobs
- Testing a range of innovative approaches, partnership working and capacity building
- Funding support through LSC for development of prototypes generated 'bottom-up' by local partners

Timescale

- June 2008 invitation to submit proposals
- August 08 regional and national panels assess 20 proposals
- 25 September 10 national advancement networks pilots confirmed
- 29 October Launch of aacs prospectus and advancement pilots

Advancement network pilots in the South East

>|sc

- PUSH
 - focus on low skills
 - IES trial area.
- Slough
 - hub and spoke model
 - social care or health needs
- Brighton and Hove
 - taking a advice services into the community

Plus 2 in North West, 2 in West Midlands, 3 in London

Leading learning and skills

Letitia.Mason@isc.gov.uk